THE FUTURE IS CURRENT

Feathercoin, Phenixcoin and Worldcoin are proud to announce a partnership to advance world-class digital currencies

July 11, 2013 -- The developers of the crypto-currencies Feathercoin, Phenixcoin and Worldcoin have established an innovative partnership under the brand United Open Currency Solutions (UNOCS) to provide services and applications to the consumer, business and entertainment sectors.

The partnership was established to strengthen the crypto-currencies development and create a pool of resources and innovation to draw from. By merging the separately named products under a single name the three innovators have joined forces to employ a federation of talents and create a set of superior products.

Feathercoin

"The formation of UNOCS is an important part of our strategy to focus the talents of all three development teams and to strengthen our consumer friendly position in the digital currency market," said JustaBitofTime, CIO of Feathercoin.

"Over the next few weeks, UNOCS will be releasing services which make it easier for consumers and merchants to accept payments from any of the 3 coins. This is a game changer in our industry, and we couldn't be more excited."

Phenixcoin

One segment that's underrepresented in the digital currency segment is world-class entertainment services. With the creation of UNOCS, Phenixcoin will continue to expand their poker and blackjack services while growing their audience.

"We want to earn customer and shareholder's loyalty by consistently providing the highest quality websites, services and applications," said JohnCar, founder of Phenixcoin.

Worldcoin

"The partnership is positioning each currency for prime-time usage," notes Clint25n, CEO of Worldcoin.

"A complete market solution is what is needed for the digital currencies. By providing a better set of tools for merchants and businesses, we're positioning Worldcoin to change the way businesses handle currency."

With companies like Google getting involved with crypto-currencies, all three partners feel it is the right time to strengthen their position by merging under a united force whilst maintaining their separate identities. While Feathercoin is focusing on the consumer market and Phenixcoin is being rapidly adopted in the entertainment sector, Worldcoin will be positioned to focus primarily on the business sector. All three crypto-currencies will be supported by the same team, merging and strengthening their position in the market sector in doing so.
